Asset and Other Standards for the Key Loan Program

Truist takes the opportunity to update certain Underwriting Standards, predominantly focused on Assets, to narrow the distinctions between Truist standards and GSE Selling Guides, Government Handbooks and the Rest of Market.

Effective Dates

Effective for new locks on or after July 12, 2024.

Background Information

The sources for adherence to verification requirements within the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau's General Qualified Mortgage rule, such as ability to repay, are the various GSE Selling Guide and Government Handbooks. When possible, based on safe and sound banking practices, and its commitment to shareholders, Truist is committed to aligning with these sources in order to create efficiencies for lenders as well as to further facilitate home ownership for individuals in all segments of the community.
